Dear Friends,

As I write we are in the season of Lent, a time of prayer and reflection. Much of my reflection lately has been on the changes in my life and new experiences.

New experiences are always daunting – in October we dropped our eldest daughter off at university to begin her undergraduate degree. There have been the inevitable highs that come with any new adventure and of course the unavoidable panic that accompanies worries about making new friends, finding her way around campus and coping with the academic pressures (not to mention what to pack - did she really need all those shoes??)

All these emotions took me back two and a half years ago to the day I began training for Licensed Lay Ministry. I was worried about the academic side of things, I hadn't studied at this level for many years and wasn't sure I would be able to cope with it, and what about the people I would be training alongside? Surely they would know so much more than me? Would I fit in? And then what about the Ministry I was training for? I was having serious doubts about my suitability for the role – surely I couldn't do this...

And so it was with some trepidation that I entered the training room and took my seat alongside the others, but as we were welcomed and the course was introduced I could feel my fears subsiding and the tension beginning to ease. We were told that the course would take us on a journey and that the expectation was not to reach a pre-set bar but that we would all start from where we were and grow from there. The other people I met were all lovely and proved to be valuable travelling companions. The academic study was one of the highlights of the two years. I was in my element as I absorbed information I had long been seeking. I relished the hours spent researching and writing assignments and waited anxiously for them to be marked. I realised that in this delight in learning, God was faithfully equipping me for the task He has set me. I am reminded of a quote that has sustained me on many a weary day: “God doesn't call those who are able, He enables those He calls.”

So what does Licensed Lay Ministry training involve...? The course is modular and requires 3 years for Readers and 2 years for Licensed Evangelists and Lay Pastoral Ministers. We all do the Core Foundational Module together, this takes place over 6 full Saturdays and 2 residential weekends (one per year). The other modules run once a week for 6 weeks each and subjects include: Pastoral Care,

Mission, Ethics, Worship and the Sacraments, Old / New Testament etc. In addition to these, we also have Specialised Sessions which are done in our individual ministries and include a placement in the first year and a project in the second. The training takes place in Northampton but some of the modules can be taken in Corby. There is a fair amount of work involved but many of the people who trained with me also managed families and full time work too. I really enjoyed my training, the fellowship and worship easily balanced the hours spent in research and writing and it was remarkable to look back and reflect on just how far we had come during the two years.

And so now looking forward to Easter, a time of rebirth and new beginnings, take the time to reflect on your life; are you ready for something new? Do you feel God may be calling you to move out of your comfort zone? Perhaps you've considered Lay Ministry but don't know how to find out if it is right for you? Firstly, Pray! Then speak to friends and family who know you well and whom you trust, talk to Licensed Lay Ministers about their experience and the Clergy to help you to discern your calling. If after all this you still feel it is the right thing for you, put yourself forward for training – it will change your life.

With every blessing

BITE BACK AT HUNGER Christian Aid Week

"It's very rewarding to know that Christians of different traditions are working together for one common aim during Christian Aid Week."
Christian Aid Week volunteer.

Thousands of churches will stand together this Christian Aid Week to speak out for change. Some 100,000 committed volunteers will go out and put their faith into action, raising funds to help some of the world's poorest and most vulnerable people.

This includes Britain's largest house-to-house collection, an extraordinary act of witness – demonstrating to our communities that we care about ending poverty and injustice.

There is enough food for everyone in the world, but one in eight people will go to bed hungry tonight.

This year's Christian Aid Week tells the story of how Christian Aid is helping communities to bite back at hunger through the lens of land rights in Bolivia, new technology in Kenya and innovative agriculture in Zimbabwe.

You can support Christian Aid Week by looking out for local events, and discover how you can be involved by contacting your local Christian Aid Week representative (or by visiting www.caweek.org/article).

ST FRANCIS AND THE THIRD ORDER

You may think of St Francis as the patron saint of animals and ecology but there is a lot more to him than that, and he has been an inspiration to thousands of people over the years, his example could become a way of life for you. The Third Order is a worldwide Anglican Franciscan Religious Order of men and women over the age of 18. We include lay and ordained, married and single, young and old, from varying ethnic and educational backgrounds. We take life vows to lead our lives according to a Rule of Life while living in our own homes, working in the community and caring for our families. There are about 3000 members worldwide, 2000 of whom are in Europe.

The Aims of the Order are to:

- ❖ Make our Lord Jesus Christ known and loved everywhere
- ❖ To spread the spirit of love and harmony
- ❖ To live simply

In these austere times do the keynotes of humility, love and joy appear more attractive to you and your life as you live it today? There are many ways of being a Christian, and it could be that following Christ, through the simple non-materialistic lifestyle of St Francis may be for you. If you become a Tertiary, as members of the Third Order are known, then you embark on a lifelong journey of personal learning and development, alongside Christian commitment and responsibility; something which is so rewarding and fulfilling in our walk with God. If you feel that you may have a calling to the Franciscan way of life, initial contact can be made by ringing .....

MOTHERS' UNION NEWS

March Meeting In spite of the absence of several members due to illness, funeral, holidays, etc, it was nice to see the Trinity Chapel so well-attended for the Lenten Communion celebrated by Revd. Janet Tebby. Helen Bush led the Intercessions in a most thoughtful way, particularly giving thanks for the many projects undertaken by MU, both in this country and throughout the world. After conducting an uplifting service Revd. Janet spoke on her own path through life and how she came to be ordained to the priesthood. She chose to illustrate this in a Desert Island Disc fashion with musical references, and finished by inviting us to join in the hymn "Let us build a house where Love can dwell". This was enthusiastically rendered by all present, leading several to wonder whether the time had come to form an MU choir! On reflection, however, more members will be needed before we could even consider such a venture! We thank Revd. Janet for a most refreshing service and enjoyable talk.

April Meeting Due to unforeseen circumstances there is a change to our published programme. At the meeting to be held on Thursday 11th April at 2.15pm in the Church Hall our speaker will be Sara Ridley, our recently elected Diocesan Vice-President, whom I mentioned in the February MU News. She will give a power point presentation and talk on this year's MU theme Help Us Grow and we are fortunate to have her at such short notice – so bring a guest or two! Barbara James

The Dean of Peterborough writes
We're all under holy orders

Some 56 years ago, when my father was the parish priest of two villages in the Staffordshire Moorlands, he received a phone call from his Bishop. "Taylor", (that's how bishops used to address their clergy), "I want you to go to the parish of xxxxxxxx."

At the time, my mother was expecting my younger sister, and the prospect of moving a young family to an estate of 20,000 folk in the Black Country was not immediately conducive. The Bishop continued, "I'll give you a week to make up your mind – and I'll Institute you on such-and-such a date." Not much option!

Today there is much wider consultation and more people "have a say" in parochial and other appointments. As it so happened, when I came to Peterborough six years ago, I was amongst the last of deans to be appointed out of the blue by means of a letter from the Prime Minister, Tony Blair. Not surprisingly, Gordon Brown soon changed the system!

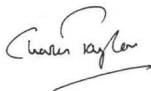

Like most parochial and other posts, vacant deaneries are now advertised, inviting applicants to be appointed by "competitive interview." I'm not sure how many of the original twelve disciples would have made it – possibly only Judas Iscariot! But, being content where I was at the time; and being neither an enthusiastic form-filler nor a well-rehearsed interviewee, I doubt if I would have thought of applying for Peterborough; and even if I had, I'm pretty certain I wouldn't have got the job.

However, during Eastertide some of the resurrection stories, including the Restoration of Peter and the Great Commission to the Apostles, remind us that Christian vocation is not merely another life-style choice, but rather that the call to discipleship, mission and ministry places us all under holy orders.

Jesus did not say to his disciples, "Fill in an application form, write a personal statement and come for interview"; but, simply and directly, "Follow me" and "Go, make disciples of all nations" – even if it means venturing where we have no wish to go. Not much option!

Happy Easter!

Yours in the risen Christ,

Charles Taylor

BROOKE NEWS

On the evening of Friday 15th March parishioners and Rev Audrey once more made their way to Brooke through rain and wind for the Annual Church Meetings held at Church Farm, the home of Ian and Cath Mc Kelvey.

The meeting was well attended with only one apology and there were many parish issues and matters to discuss so the meeting did not finish until 10pm when we all appreciated the drinks and biscuits provided by Ian and Cath.

A new member, Sue Tyers, was elected to the PCC committee and apart from the posts of churchwardens which are still under discussion, everyone else was happy to continue in their respective posts for another year.

Secretary Mary and treasurer Terry gave their reports on the years activities and the state of our finances, Ian and Cath reported that they had enjoyed some interesting and stimulating Deanery Synod meetings over the past year and Barbara said the electoral role had increased by one this year. Harold reported that there had been no major maintenance issues to attend to and that the Quinquennial inspection was due to be done shortly. He also outlined the role of a churchwarden and thanked all who had helped him and Joan over the years. He was commended for the vast amount of research work that he had done on the Chancel Repair liability and thankfully it seems that we may be nearer to reaching a solution.

The various significant services of the year were organised and on Easter Day at 8am the Rev Brian Nicholls will take the service with the Rev Audrey preaching and with luck Brooke's wonderful display of daffodils will finally be out.

Arrangements are now under way for our first special event of the year on Whit Sunday at the later time of 7pm to allow Audrey to take the service.

MUSIC IN MAYTIME AT ST PETER, BROOKE

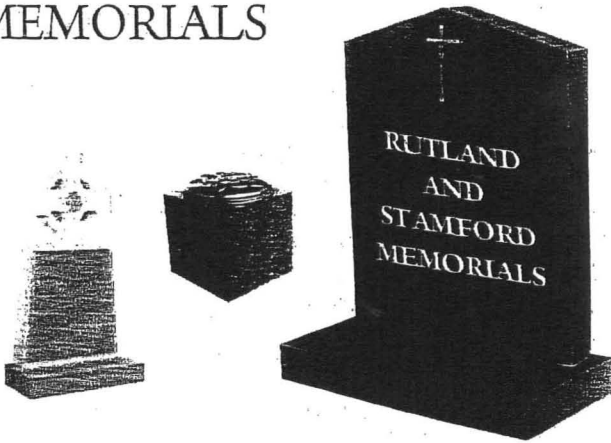

A PRAYER BOOK EVENSONG with musical interludes

ON SUNDAY 19th MAY 2013 at the later time of 7pm

LIGHT REFRESHMENTS WILL BE SERVED AFTERWARDS

The Rev Audrey concluded by speaking of her enjoyment of attending and being responsible for the parish of Brooke, fortunately she had had only the one funeral to hold that of Dennis Davis and said how she keeps in touch with his wife Iris, now at the Tixover Care Home. Audrey now looks forward to the marriage of Sophie, the oldest daughter of Rob and Maggie Eayrs in May, her first marriage ceremony at Brooke.
